1000 to 1200 words means how many pages

Sometimes it helps to know how many words are on the page you write. While the overall benchmark is one page - it's 500 words (single space) or 250 words (double position), it's a ballpark figure. Truth is the number of words on a page depends on a variety of factors, such as font type, font size, spacing elements, margin spacing, and paragraph length to name multiple. While it's not possible to take on all these factors when estimating how many words a page will be for your writing, this calculator can give more accurate words per conversion rating page than the typical 250/500 ballpark figure. The calculator is able to provide a more accurate transformation taking into account more specific information. For example, you can choose from different common fonts to create a rating: Arial Calibri Comic Sans MS Courier Times New Roman Verdana You can choose the desired interval from the following options: Single set 1.5 double spaced Finally, you can choose the font size you want: 10, 11, 12, 13 or 14. By using these three options to more accurately determine your spelling, the words on the calculator page should provide a better estimate of how many words you need to write to fill the page. In the opposite direction, it can give a more accurate estimate of the number of pages you've created if you only know the number of words. While we make every attempt to make our calculators as accurate as possible, the results won't be perfect. This converter solves some problems to provide a more accurate assessment, but ultimately it's still an estimate. Other issues, such as field space and paragraph length, are likely to result in some option from the specified calculations. This, they say, should provide a more accurate indication of the number of pages, the number of specific words will be and the number of words on the page you enter compared to the general rule of thumb. 1200 words is how many pages?
